AS 36
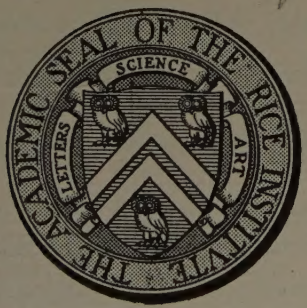
W45
VOL. II

184

THE
RICE INSTITUTE
PAMPHLET

VOLUME ELEVEN

Rice University studies



Published by
THE RICE INSTITUTE

A university of liberal and technical learning ounded by William Marsh Rice in the City f Houston, Texas, and dedicated by him to he advancement of Letters, Science, and Art

CONTENTS

—

VOLUME XI

—

No. 1. JANUARY, 1924

PAGE

SEVERAL POPULAR LECTURES on scientific subjects delivered in the Physics Amphitheatre of the Rice Institute in the course of University Extension Lectures for the academic year 1923-24.

I. The Electrical View of Matter, by Harold A. Wilson, D.Sc. (London), F.R.S., Professor of Physics . . 1

II. Insulin in Discovery and Use, by Henry O. Nicholas, Ph.D. (Yale), Instructor in Chemistry 7

III. Animal Behavior and the Physiology of the Nervous System, by Edgar Altenburg, Ph.D. (Columbia), Assistant Professor of Biology 29

IV. Civilization and the Motor Car, by Joseph H. Pound, M.E. (Missouri), Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering 48

V. Chemistry and the Petroleum Industry, by Arthur J. Hartsook, M.Sc. (Mass. Inst. Tech.), Instructor in Industrial Chemistry 74

VI. Some Applications of Sound, by Claude W. Heaps, Ph.D. (Princeton), Assistant Professor of Physics 95

VII. Priestley and the Discovery of Oxygen, by Harry B. Weiser, Ph.D. (Cornell), Professor of Chemistry . 118

CONTENTS—Continued

No. 2. APRIL, 1924

PAGE

THREE STUDIES IN CRITICISM: Three lectures, the first and third of which were delivered at the Rice Institute by Louis Cazamian, Professor of English Literature at the University of Paris.

I. Psycho-Analysis and Literary Criticism 139

II. The Method of Discontinuity in Recent Art and Literature 154

III. The Possibilities of the Near Future in English Letters 168

No. 3. JULY, 1924

CHARACTER THROUGH A CAUSE—A sermon preached to the eighth graduating class of the Rice Institute, by Edward Scribner Ames, Associate Professor of Philosophy in the University of Chicago 181

SOME OBJECTIVES IN A COLLEGIATE TRAINING—An address delivered at the eighth commencement convocation of the Rice Institute, by Edgar Fahs Smith, formerly Provost of the University of Pennsylvania 196

BREAKING GROUND FOR THE NEW RICE LABORATORY FOR CHEMISTRY—Remarks made by Edgar Fahs Smith, formerly Provost of the University of Pennsylvania 206

TEXT OF A LETTER written by Dr. Joseph Priestley to Dr. Samuel Latham Mitchill, Member of Congress . . 210

THE PHILOSOPHY OF PEACE—A sermon preached to the ninth graduating class of the Rice Institute, by William States Jacobs, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of Houston, Texas 212

SCIENCE AND CIVILIZATION—An address delivered at the ninth commencement convocation of the Rice Institute, by Charles William Dabney, formerly President of the University of Cincinnati 223

CONTENTS—Continued

No. 4. OCTOBER, 1924

PAGE

THE OUTLOOK IN BIOLOGY—A course of three lectures delivered in the Physics Amphitheatre of the Rice Institute, September 29 and 30, and October 1, 1924, by Julian S. Huxley, Fellow of New College and Senior Demonstrator in Zoölogy, Oxford University, sometime Assistant Professor of Biology at the Rice Institute.

I. Pure Biology 241

II. Applied Biology 274

III. Philosophical Biology: Science Destructive and Constructive 308